Digital India – Boon or Bane?

Introduction:

In recent days, all the people of India heard about this Digital India and some people thought whether Digital India is boon or bane to our country. For some category of people like educated and modern people digital India is boon and for rural and village people digital India is bane. For educated and city people all the amenities are there in their places, but for village people they can travel to some distance and then they can use the facilities. This is the main reason for the difference in usage of digital India.

Digital India is boon because it holds many advantages, than disadvantage. Some of the advantages are listed here

1. Digital Education
2. Digital Money transaction
3. Digital Governance
4. Digital Identification
5. Digital Market
6. It will increase publish awareness
7. It will reduce documentation
8. It will improve the processing speed of the grievances/ petitions.
9. It will helps to begin many start ups
10. It will improves peoples life style

From these aspects at my point of view Digital India is boon to our society. People try to adopt their selves to the digital India process. This Digital India will shrink the world into our Mobile Phone or laptop or computer. Without going to any government office, we can get all the services through online itself. Obviously this is boon to our people. But for village and uneducated people, we and our government have to give the facilities to get this boon on their requirements and life style. For uneducated people we can give education and other essential knowledge to survive in the digital India environment. For village people our government has to set all the Digital India amenities for their convenience.

People also try to help the government to encourage Digital India process by take into effect on our life style. If we united to follow on Digital India procedures, our country will get developed in all aspects in future. So we are the sources of India to uplift our country in the world. So finally I have to register this, Digital India is boon to our society.
